If you do not know your spouse's address, you can still get divorced but it may require doing a legal publication in a major newspaper where your spouse was last known to live. The cost for a legal publication varies, so if you need to serve your spouse by this method we will need to get a quote for you. This cost is not included in the $395 fee. We recommend doing everything you can to locate a good address for your spouse because it is by far much less expensive to serve your spouse by certified mail or by sheriff.
